Dear Parishioners,

We celebrate the Feast of the Transfiguration of Our Lord, August 6 for those who have Missals.

1. The Glory of Christ

On the cross, Christ is humiliated, shamed, and suffering. To ordinary people passing by, he looks more like a loser than a winner in life. And yet we treasure the crucifix because it is the symbol of God's love made manifest to us. God so loved the world that he gave his only-begotten Son that we should not die but have everlasting life (John 3:16). Could anything be more glorious than this love? The glory of Christ is shown on the cross!

But in the Gospel reading for this Sunday, we see Christ glorious in a more obvious and ordinary way. Up on a mountain, Christ is transfigured. His clothes are radiant, and so is he. Moses and Elijah come to talk to him. And a voice from heaven proclaims that Jesus is God's beloved Son, in whom God is well-pleased. In this transfiguration, Christ looks both lovely and powerful, a winner rather than a loser on anybody's view. And Christ takes just Peter, James, and John up to the mountain to see his transfiguration.

If Christ had not been resurrected, we might have supposed that suffering is all there is to glory.

Why would Christ allow himself to be transfigured in this way before his passion? And why would Christ want to show himself transfigured to his followers? Shouldn't his suffering be for us the right way to understand true glory?

Maybe the reason for his transfiguration shares something with the reason for his resurrection. If Christ had not been resurrected, we might have supposed that suffering (or at least, suffering for the Lord) is all there is to glory. And then we might have gotten confused and thought that there is something specially good about suffering taken all by itself.

Maybe Christ allows himself to be transfigured so that his followers will understand even before the grieving events of the crucifixion that suffering is not the end of the story, not for Christ and not for his followers either.

But then why do only Peter, James, and John witness Christ in glory in this way?

Well, these three apostles went on to suffer greatly for Christ. James and Peter were among the first martyrs, and John shepherded the church through severe persecutions. Christ helped them get ready for those trials by strengthening them with the vision of his transfiguration.

Consolation increases with affliction, the apostle Paul says (2 Cor 1:5). That is a consoling thought for us, isn't it?

2. Air Conditioners in Church

I ask parishioners to be mindful that, during these winter months the aircon is running and when we enter the Church please close the door after you!

3. Hall Tables for Sale

George Ajkay, during Fr Short's time built the wooden tables that we use in the hall for our functions.

However, for those of us who have set the hall up for a function they are very heavy to get down from the stack etc.

George is in agreement that I can offer them to parishioners and we will use the collapsable white ones which are much lighter to handle.

The table and the metal legs are very sturdy and of good quality that will last a lifetime.

Each table $135.00

First in at the presbytery with a vehicle there are 30 tables.

4. Welcome Lawrence Law

At the Sunday 9am Mass, we welcome Lawrence into the Catholic Faith.

Lawrence has not been baptised so, he will receive the Sacraments of Baptism and Confirmation, as the first part of the ceremony.

When we come to the reception of Holy Communion, I will invite Lawrence and his wife Stephanie, with John-William and Chantelle Fisher to receive Holy Communion first under both species.

There will be a morning tea following the Mass so I invite you to welcome Lawrence at that time.

So, please pray for him as we welcome him into the community.

5. Charitable Works Collection (CWF)

I have held off on the CWF due to the Caritas Appeal three weeks ago. I am sorry that there is this collection on, so soon after the other appeal. There are envelopes on the seat today as a reminder that the CWF will be held at the Masses, next weekend.

Our Quota for this collection is: $1,900.00

POPE FRANCIS COLUMN

Pope's Tweet: As Saint Ignatius, One Must Put Oneself at the Service of One's Neighbour

On the 31st July the Church Remembered Saint Ignatius of Loyola, Founder of the Society of Jesus. On the day that the Church remembers Saint Ignatius of Loyola, founder of the Society of Jesus, Pope Francis sent a message yesterday, July 31, 2017, on his Twitter account. "As Saint Ignatius of Loyola, let us allow ourselves to be conquered by the Lord Jesus and guided by Him, let us place ourselves at the service of our neighbour," he said.

In an interview with Vatican Radio yesterday, Venezuelan Arturo Sosa, Superior General of the Religious Order, talked about the two great challenges facing the Society of Jesus.

"I would like to synthesize the challenges of the Society in two groups. The first is how we can understand our best contribution to the Church's mission of reconciliation," adding that "the contribution has a foundation and the foundation is faith. Therefore, the first challenge is to discern where God is working at this moment in human history and how He does it, in order to be His instruments and to collaborate with what He does."

Father Sosa affirmed that one must look at the crucifixes of today's world, marked by inequality and poverty. "Without social justice, reconciliation is not possible," he stressed, adding that the causes of injustice must be understood and thought must be given to alternative models of human coexistence. "The challenge we have before us is to seek to reconcile these processes, to guarantee to future generations a better life than the one we have today amid inequality and poverty."

The second great group of challenges identified by the Superior General is to adapt the Society of Jesus to the present time. "to put the Society in the condition to be able to offer a more effective collaboration to these challenges." This begins, he said, with personal conversion, with the conversion of communal life and, the most difficult, with institutional conversion.

The Pope Has Lunch at the Jesuits' General Curia

Sixth Visit for the Feast of Saint Ignatius of Loyola 31st July.

On July 31, 2017, feast of Saint Ignatius of Loyola (1491-1556), Founder of the Society of Jesus, Pope Francis had lunch at the Jesuits' General Curia in Rome, reported Paloma G. Ovejero, Vice-Director of the Holy See Press Office, on her Twitter account, publishing a photo of the private visit in the afternoon.

Yesterday's lunch marked the Jesuit Pope's sixth informal visit in the establishment located not far from the Vatican. The last time was on February 12 of this year, on the occasion of the departure of the former Superior General of the Society of Jesus, Adolfo Nicolas.

Ignatius of Loyola was born in the Spanish Basque country, at Azpeitia in 1491. He founded the Society of Jesus on August 15, 1534 in Paris, France. Pope Paul II approved it in 1540. Ignatius died in Rome on July 31, 1556. He rests in the church of "Gesù" – in honor of the Name of Jesus – the first church of the Jesuits in the world.

Parents please dispose of your nappies appropriately. As you would in your own homes.
